PreRequisites

1. Internet connection
2. Android Studio

You can download android studio from this link:
https://developer.android.com/sdk/index.html

Follow the steps below to clone the project from git hub to android studio:

1. Load Android Studio and select Check out project from Version Control

2. Select GitHub from the drop down list

3. Enter your credentials and click Login

4. Click Clone after filling out the following details:

- Vcs Repository URL: The URL of your repository on GitHub

- Parent Directory: The local directory where you want to store this project

- Directory Name: The name of your project

5. Open the project : You will be prompted with a message asking you would like to open the project in Android Studio. Click Yes. The project will now open in Android Studio